

This is an enchanting book that any parent will relate to. Full of wise observations on life as seen through the eyes of a ten-year-old child. Delightful and moving.

MIRANDA AND WILLIAM KENDALL DL

This moving story is living proof of how philanthropy is open to everyone and of how even a child's walk on the coast with a parent can turn into such a seismic inspiration.

THERESA LLOYD

FOUNDER DIRECTOR, PHILANTHROPY UK

AUTHOR (WITH DR. BETH BREEZE), 'RICHER LIVES'

May's touching book provides an insight into the special nature of this beautiful part of the world. The East Coast is rich in culture and heritage, and it is heart-warming to have these qualities portrayed so personally and in aid of such an important cause.

ROGER WRIGHT CBE

CHIEF EXECUTIVE, SNAPE MALTINGS

A smashing read evoking the special nature of this stretch of our coastline.

ADAM BURROWS

NATURAL ENGLAND

A fantastic celebration of a journey along the Suffolk coast, sharing the best of all that binds us inextricably to the natural world through the lens of intergenerational discovery.

MICHAEL STRAND

SUFFOLK WILDLIFE TRUST

This beautiful and deeply personal account of ten-year-old May's journey along our incomparable Suffolk coast challenges us to rediscover the wisdom of childhood, the difference between achievement and fulfilment, and whether we are 'soldier, poet, or soldier-poet.' Reminding us of the life-changing power of music, May recalls the parts music played in her walk. Above all, she invites us to make that journey ourselves, a 'sort of treasure hunt without any clues,' asking: "so what are you going to do?"
